BDLive - The JSE bucked the international trend to close firmer on Thursday, with global markets remaining unde ressure as the death toll from the coronavirus in China rises amid mounting concern about its economic implication in stocks tumbled as economists reconsidered growth prospects in the the first quarter for the second biggest economy in the world. Already, millions of Chinese are facing travel restrictions, limiting economic activity. One Chinese government economist said the crisis could cut first-quarter growth by as much as one percentage point, to 5% or lower, with the crisis hitting sectors from mining to luxury goods, reported Reuters.

With more than 7,000 confirmed cases so far and a death toll of at least 170, the World Health Organisation (WHO) is expected to hold an emergency meeting on Thursday to consider its next steps in containing the virus. Markets will be closely watching the outcome of the meeting.

FarmFutures - Soybean prices suffered double-digit losses Thursday as poor export sales data from USDA contributed to fears over the lack of Chinese purchases and fueled a round of technical selling. March futures dropped 16.75 cents to $8.7625, with May futures down 16.5 cents to $8.9050 – closing below $9 per bushel for the first time since early December. Soybean basis bids held steady across much of the central U.S. Thursday but did tick a penny higher at an lowa river terminal today. Private exporters reported to USDA the sale of 30,000 metric tons of soyoil for delivery to Egypt during the 2019/20 marketing year, which began October 1. China remains conspicuously absent from USDA's large grain sale announcements, meantime. Exporters are required to report any soybean purchases greater than 100,000 metric tons (3.7 million bushels) to the agency. China last made the list January 15, when private exporters reported a 4.6-million bushel purchase. Soybean exports were far less impressive last week, coming in at 17.3 million bushels. Which was 41% lower week-over-week and 11% below the prior four-week average. The tally was also on the low end of trade guesses that ranged between 14.7 million and 40.4 million bushels. Cumulative totals for 2019/20 are that shead of last year's pace, at 395.4 million bushels. Soybean export shipments fared better, with 45.2 million bushels, trending 17% higher than a week ago and 11% above the prior four-week average. China was the No. 1 destination, with 20.5 million bushels. The Buenos Atters grains exchange now estimates Argentina's 2019/20 soybean production at 1.951 billion bushels, up 4.1% from the group's October projections but still falling 3.6% behind last year's harvest, if realized.
