

Weather Report

18 November 2020

South Africa - Weather

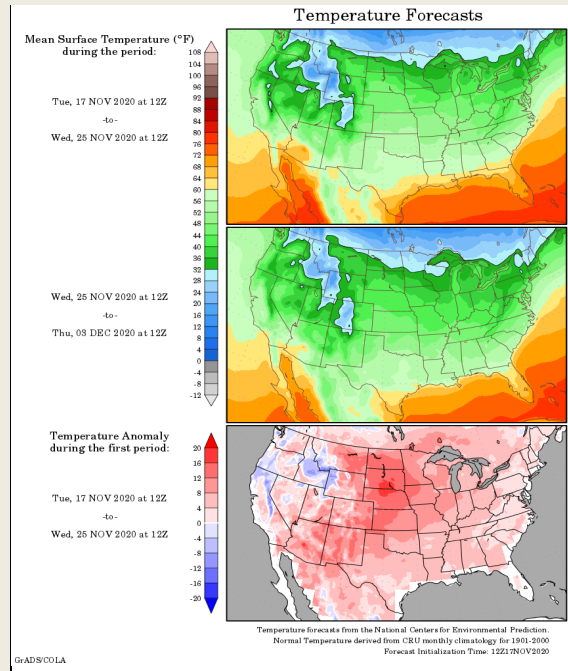

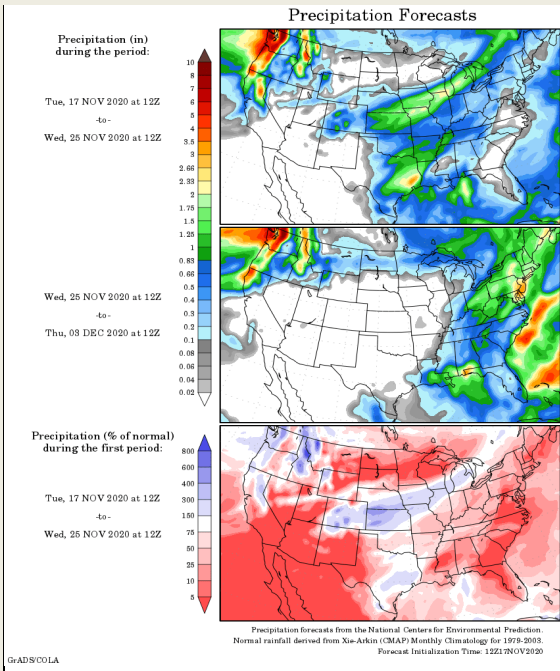

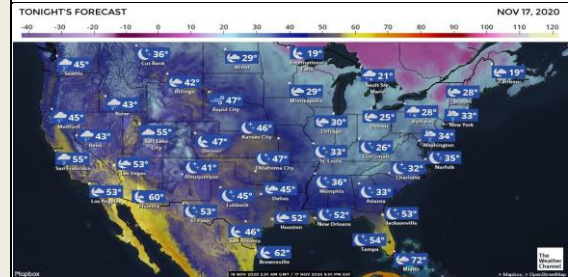

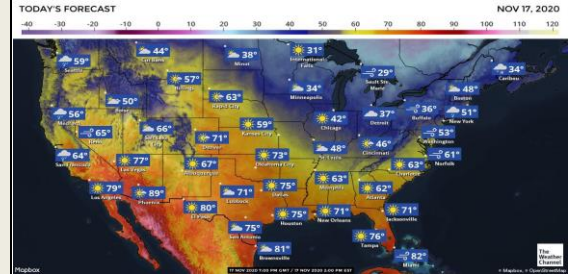

The main summer coarse grain and oilseed areas in eastern and central South Africa will continue to see a good mix of rain and sunshine during the coming week. The rain will gradually bolster soil moisture and support a good or improving environment for aggressive establishment and growth. Additional rain will still be needed to completely fix the moisture deficits, though there will still be enough moisture for the crops. Winter wheat maturation and harvesting in Free State, North West, and eastern Northern Cape may also be sluggish at times during the periods of rain. No significant crop quality impacts are expected. Winter wheat maturation and harvesting will otherwise continue under mostly favorable conditions in Western Cape during the coming week. Little rain is slated for the main crop areas and the rain that does occur will be too light to significantly impact the harvest or crop quality.

DISCLAIMER: This report has been prepared by GroCapital Financial Services Pty Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of AFGRI Operations Limited provided to you for information purposes only. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI hereby certify that the views expressed in this report were obtained from sources which GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI consider to be reliable. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI do not make any representations or give any guarantees or warranties, expressed or implied, as to the correctness, accuracy or completeness of the report. Neither GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI, nor any affiliate, nor any of their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, shall assume any liability for any losses arising from errors or omissions in the opinions, forecasts or information, irrespective of whether there has been any negligence by GroCapital and AFGRI, their affiliate, or their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, regardless of whether such damages were foreseen or unforeseen. The information contained in this report is confidential and may be subject to legal privilege. This report is not intended to not should it be taken to create any legal relations or contractual relations.

United States of America - Weather

U.S. MIDWEST: restricted precipitation pattern and mild temperatures will occur through most of the next two weeks and harvesting should soon be completed in nearly all areas.
 o Two rounds of precipitation will occur with late harvesting and post-harvest fieldwork likely to advance well before and after each precipitation event.
 U.S. DELTA AND SOUTHEAST: The Delta and the Southeast will see dry conditions most often through the next two weeks and harvesting should advance well around the occasional round of precipitation expected.
 o Today through Saturday will be mostly dry.

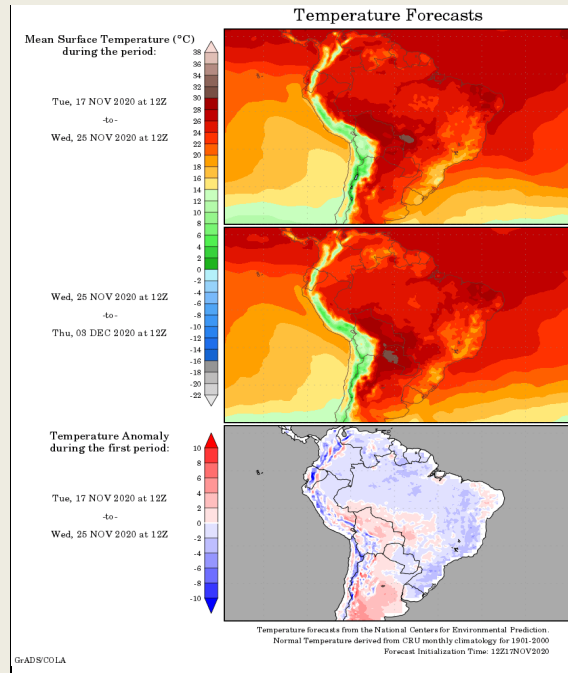

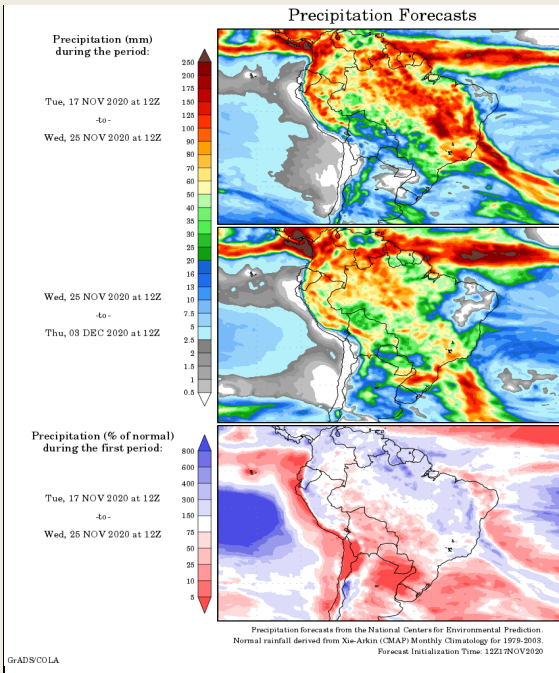

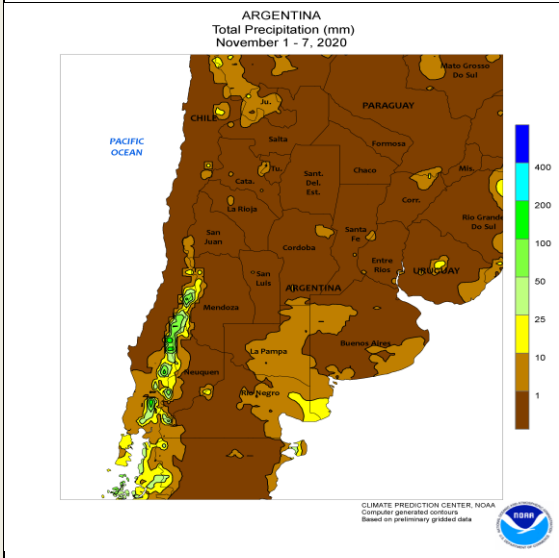

DISCLAIMER: This report has been prepared by GroCapital Financial Services Pty Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of AFGRI Operations Limited. It is provided to you for information purposes only. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI hereby certify that the views expressed in this report were obtained from sources which GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI consider to be reliable. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI do not make any representations or give any guarantees or warranties, expressed or implied, as to the correctness, accuracy or completeness of the report. Neither GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI, nor any affiliate, nor any of their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, shall assume any liability for any losses arising from errors or omissions in the opinions, forecasts or information, irrespective of whether there has been any negligence by GroCapital and AFGRI, their affiliate, or their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, regardless of whether such damages were foreseen or unforeseen. The information contained in this report is confidential and may be subject to legal privilege. This report is not intended to not should it be taken to create any legal relations or contractual relations.

South America - Weather

BRAZIL: Showers and thunderstorms will continue through Wednesday in much of Brazil and portions of Paraguay and most areas should receive enough rain to induce additional increases in soil moisture that will support crops when a nearly week of drier weather begins Thursday. A timely increase in rain will occur from southern into central Brazil Nov. 25-28 and if this rain event occurs as advertised crops should have enough soil moisture to develop favorably through the remainder of the next two weeks. The rain is not likely to be great enough to fully restore the soil moisture and follow-up rain will be needed soon to maintain favorable conditions for summer crops.

ARGENTINA: Argentina will see a restricted rainfall pattern and good planting progress through most of the next two weeks and crops stress may increase in the drier parts of the country, but today's forecast is wetter for Monday into Wednesday of next week and that rain event should buy most crops more time before serious stress evolves. A general increase in rain will be needed soon in early December to ensure soil moisture is supportive of crop development and if that increase in rain does not occur, crop stress should steadily rise as moisture from rain next week is lost to evaporation.

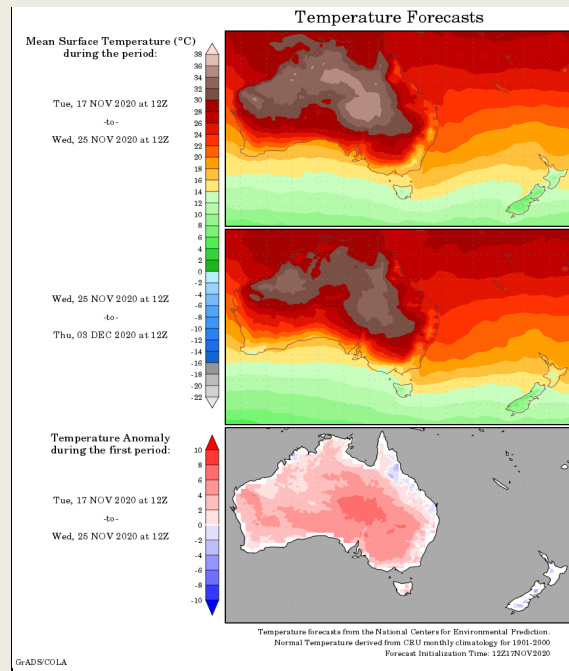

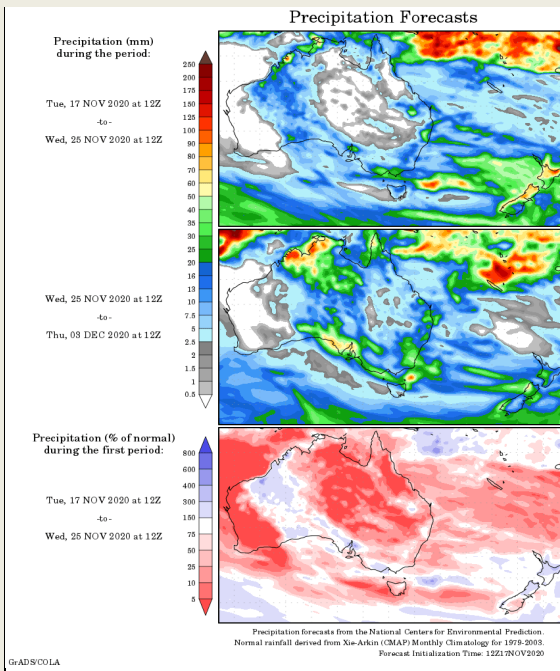

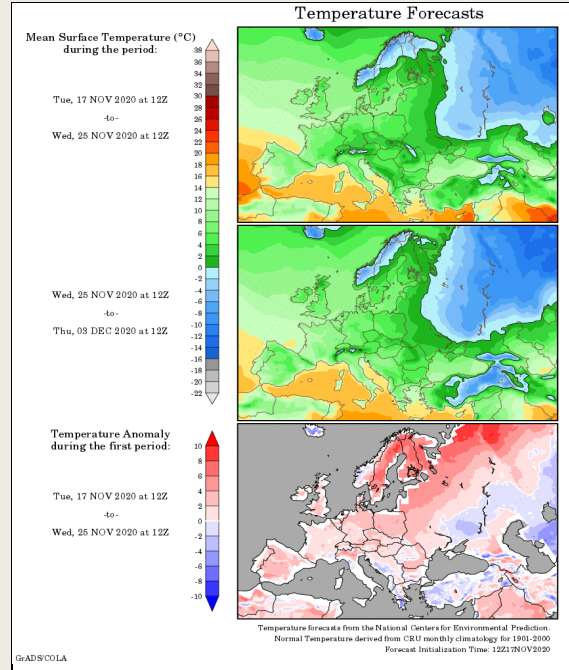

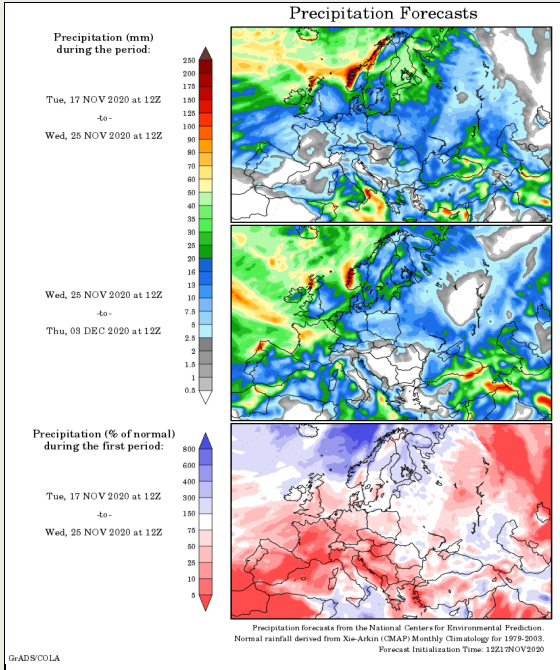

DISCLAIMER: This report has been prepared by GroCapital Financial Services Pty Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of AFGRI Operations Limited is provided to you for information purposes only. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI hereby certify that the views expressed in this report were obtained from sources which GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI consider to be reliable. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI do not make any representations or give any guarantees or warranties, expressed or implied, as to the correctness, accuracy or completeness of the report. Neither GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI, nor any affiliate, nor any of their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, shall assume any liability for any losses arising from errors or omissions in the opinions, forecasts or information, irrespective of whether there has been any negligence by GroCapital and AFGRI, their affiliate, or their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, regardless of whether such damages were foreseen or unforeseen. The information contained in this report is confidential and may be subject to legal privilege. This report is not intended to not should it be taken to create any legal relations or contractual relations.

Europe, New Zealand and Australia - Weather

EUROPE: Restricted precipitation will allow for swift crop maturation and harvesting in most of mainland Europe this week. The most organized precipitation will occur from western and northern portions of the U.K. through Scandinavia and eventually into northern Poland during the coming week. Drying will occur in northern Poland through the remainder of the workweek. Moisture totals will vary from 0.30 to 1.00 inch and local totals varying from 1.00 to 2.00 inches by this time next week.

AUSTRALIA: Precipitation will be light and erratic during the next ten days to two weeks. Conditions will not be completely dry, but favorable conditions for winter crop maturation and harvest will prevail. Excessive heat will occur over Australia this week stressing livestock and some dryland crops.

DISCLAIMER: This report has been prepared by GroCapital Financial Services Pty Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of AFGRI Operations Limited and is provided to you for information purposes only. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI hereby certify that the views expressed in this report were obtained from sources which GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI consider to be reliable. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI do not make any representations or give any guarantees or warranties, expressed or implied, as to the correctness, accuracy or completeness of the report. Neither GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI, nor any affiliate, nor any of their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, shall assume any liability for any losses arising from errors or omissions in the opinions, forecasts or information, irrespective of whether there has been any negligence by GroCapital and AFGRI, their affiliate, or their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, regardless of whether such damages were foreseen or unforeseen. The information contained in this report is confidential and may be subject to legal privilege. This report is not intended to not should it be taken to create any legal relations or contractual relations.