

Weather Report

02 August 2021

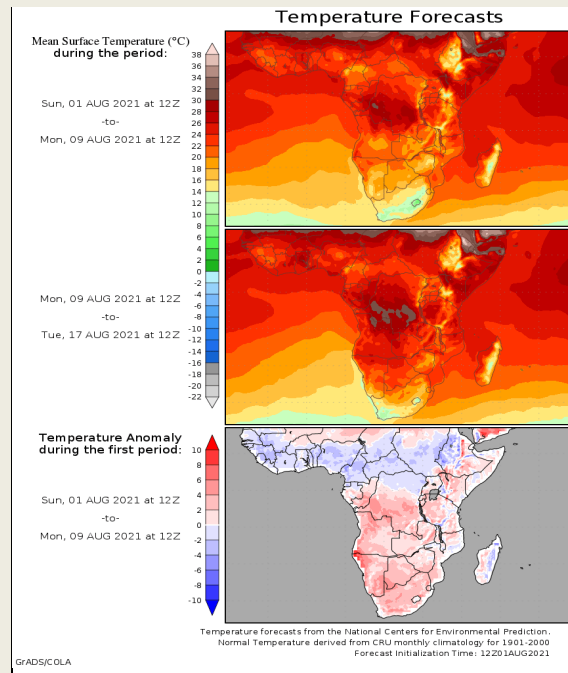

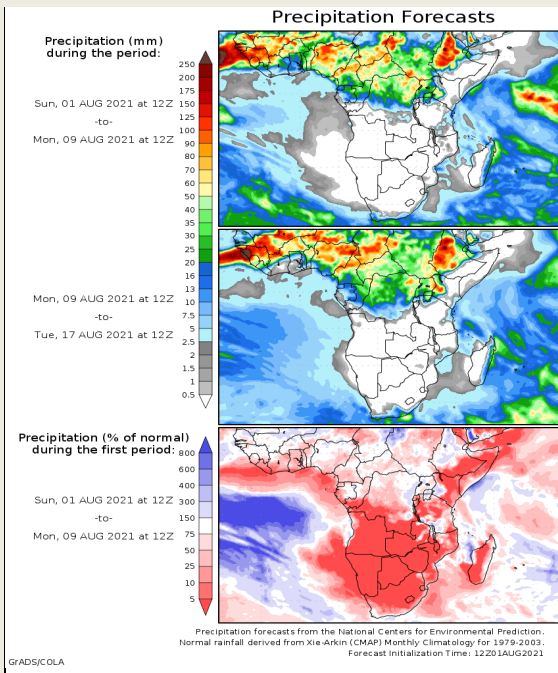

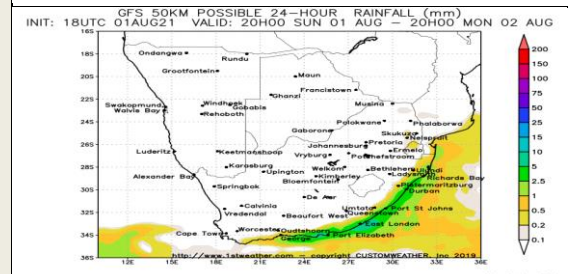

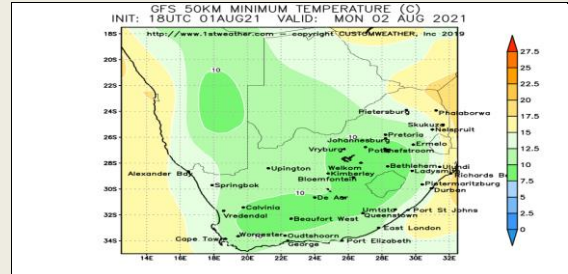

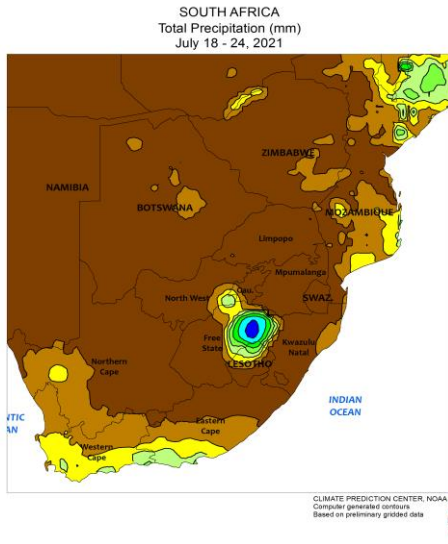

South Africa - Weather

Mostly dry weather will persist in the main winter wheat areas of South Africa through the end of next week. Western Cape will have enough moisture to maintain favorable crop conditions. Wheat prospects will also remain good in the irrigated areas of Northern Cape and Free State. Dryland wheat in Free State is otherwise in need of significant rain. • South Africa will be mostly dry through the end of next week

o A few areas in the south and east will occasionally receive light rain, though resulting precipitation will be lost to evaporation

• Drier than normal weather will persist in most locations August 7 – 13

o However, Western Cape and neighboring areas may again see periods of light rain

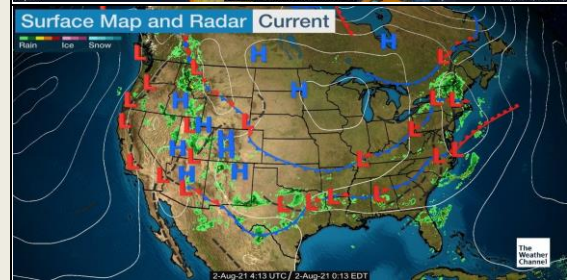

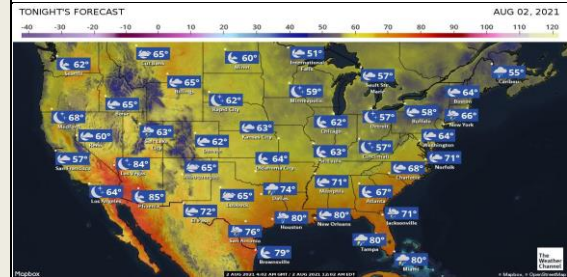

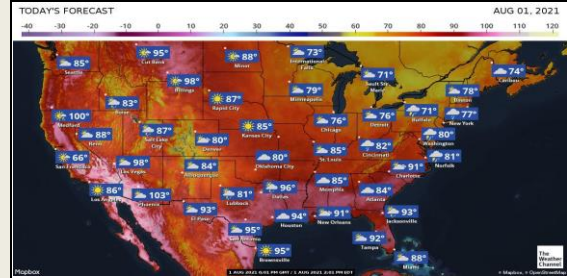

DISCLAIMER: This report has been prepared by GroCapital Financial Services Pty Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of AFGRI Operations Limited provided to you for information purposes only. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI hereby certify that the views expressed in this report were obtained from sources which GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI consider to be reliable. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI do not make any representations or give any guarantees or warranties, expressed or implied, as to the correctness, accuracy or completeness of the report. Neither GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI, nor any affiliate, nor any of their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, shall assume any liability for any losses arising from errors or omissions in the opinions, forecasts or information, irrespective of whether there has been any negligence by GroCapital and AFGRI, their affiliate, or their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, regardless of whether such damages were foreseen or unforeseen. The information contained in this report is confidential and may be subject to legal privilege. This report is not intended to not should it be taken to create any legal relations or contractual relations.

United States of America - Weather

U.S. MIDWEST: Rain will be infrequent enough during the next two weeks that much of the Midwest will be significantly drier by Aug. 13 than today, but outside of the eastern Dakotas into Minnesota and northern Iowa where subsoil moisture is short and stress to crops will increase, a combination of mostly mild temperatures next week and adequate subsoil moisture should keep conditions for crops favorable. As long as timely rain returns near the middle of August and heat does not return for an extended period, production potentials should remain high outside of the drought-stricken areas in the northwest.

The eastern Dakotas to Wisconsin and central and northern Illinois into central and northern Indiana will be driest during the next week.

U.S. DELTA AND SOUTHEAST: Two more weeks of favorable conditions for crop development will continue in much of the Delta and the Southeast as regular rounds of rain will occur Sunday through Tuesday with additional rain in parts of the Southeast Wednesday into Thursday before drier weather Aug. 6-13 raises the need for rain near the middle of the month.

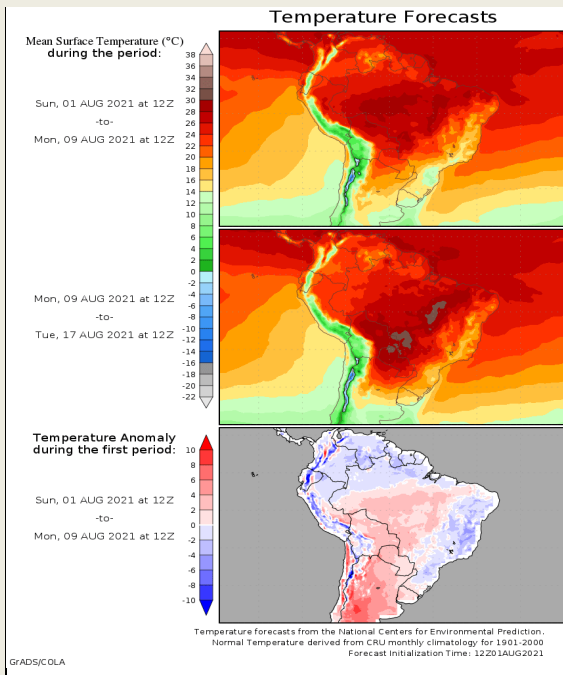

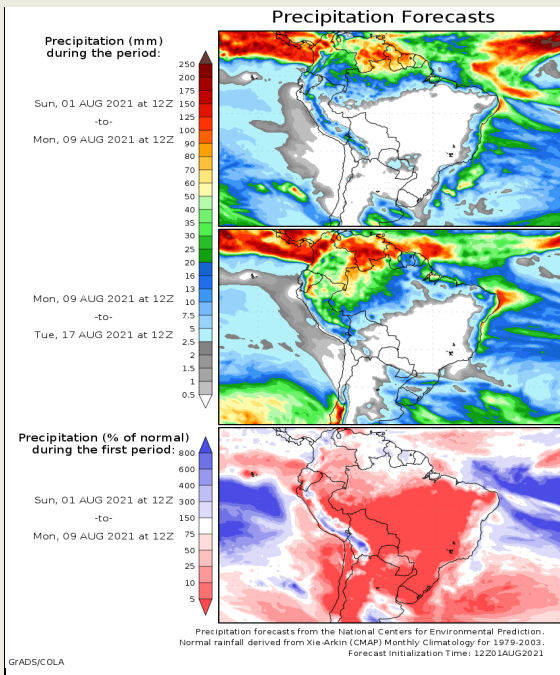

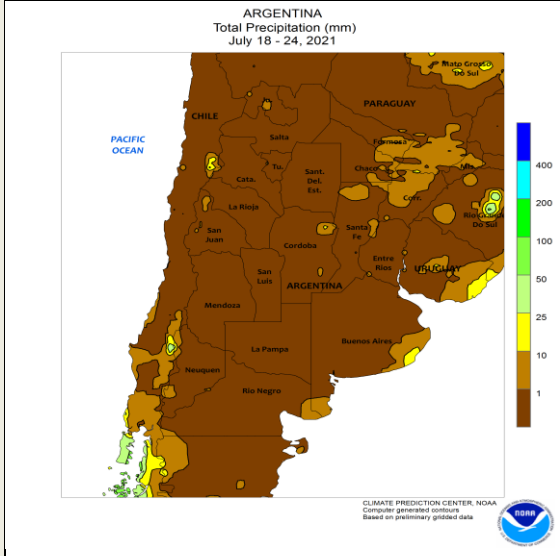

DISCLAIMER: This report has been prepared by GroCapital Financial Services Pty Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of AFGRI Operations Limited is provided to you for information purposes only. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI hereby certify that the views expressed in this report were obtained from sources which GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI consider to be reliable. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI do not make any representations or give any guarantees or warranties, expressed or implied, as to the correctness, accuracy or completeness of the report. Neither GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI, nor any affiliate, nor any of their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, shall assume any liability for any losses arising from errors or omissions in the opinions, forecasts or information, irrespective of whether there has been any negligence by GroCapital and AFGRI, their affiliate, or their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, regardless of whether such damages were foreseen or unforeseen. The information contained in this report is confidential and may be subject to legal privilege. This report is not intended to not should it be taken to create any legal relations or contractual relations.

South America - Weather

BRAZIL: Additional frost and freezes will occur in southern Brazil Saturday causing some further damage to late-planted second season corn, winter wheat, and sugarcane. Dry weather and favorable conditions for fieldwork will be most common through the next two weeks in Paraguay and Brazil with some light shower activity in the south and northeast.

ARGENTINA: Most days will be dry during the next two weeks and fieldwork should advance well while winter wheat in the west will remain in need of rain.

o While rain may not have much of an impact on wheat right now as the crop is in a semi-dormant state, an increase in soil moisture is needed so the crop can grow once seasonal warming occurs.

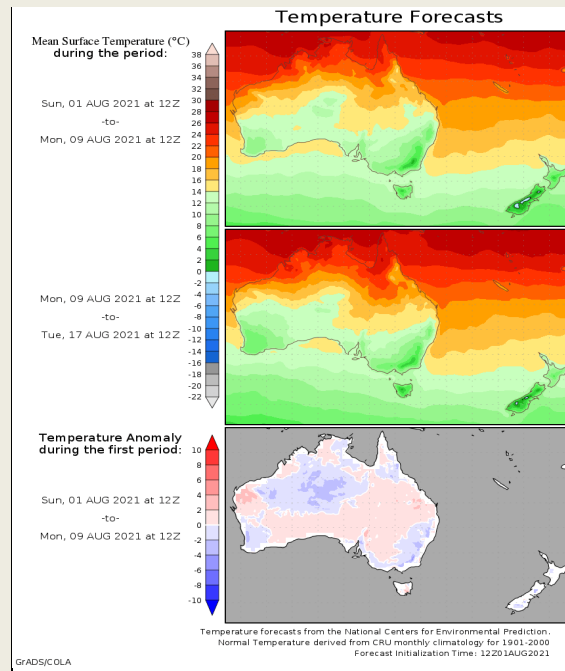

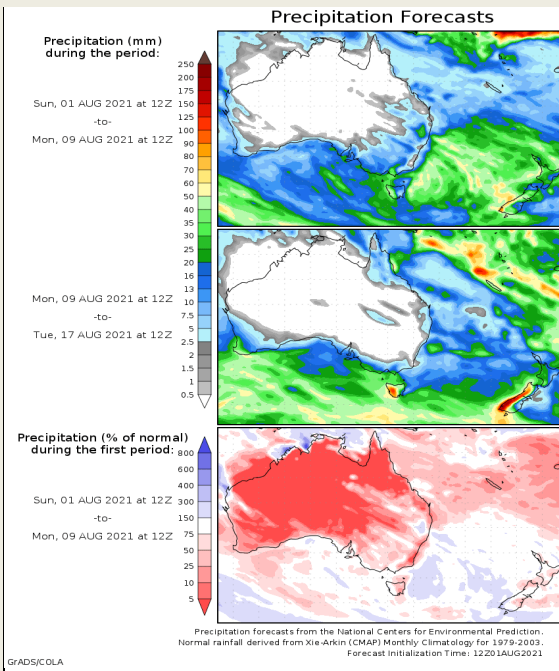

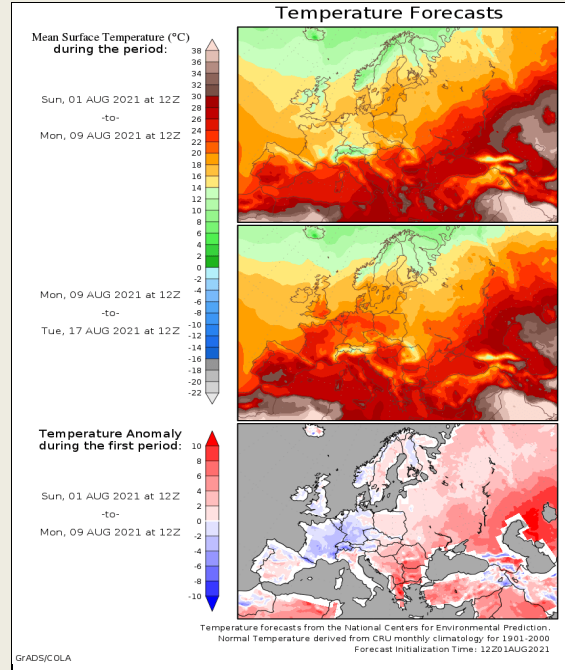

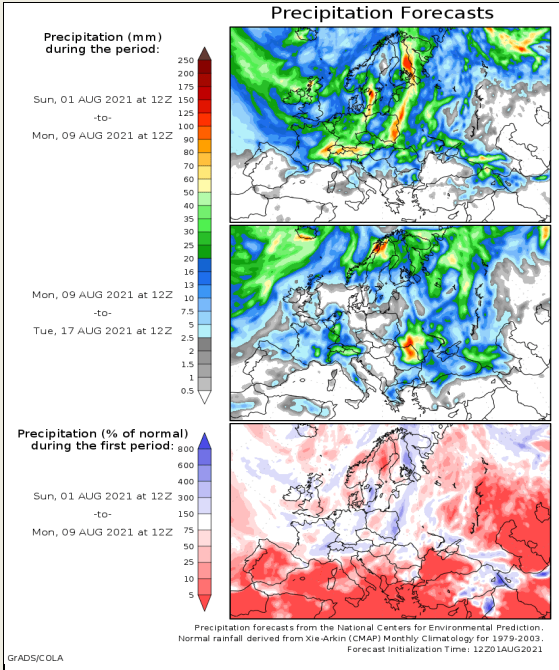

DISCLAIMER: This report has been prepared by GroCapital Financial Services Pty Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of AFGRI Operations Limited is provided to you for information purposes only. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI hereby certify that the views expressed in this report were obtained from sources which GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI consider to be reliable. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI do not make any representations or give any guarantees or warranties, expressed or implied, as to the correctness, accuracy or completeness of the report. Neither GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI, nor any affiliate, nor any of their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, shall assume any liability for any losses arising from errors or omissions in the opinions, forecasts or information, irrespective of whether there has been any negligence by GroCapital and AFGRI, their affiliate, or their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, regardless of whether such damages were foreseen or unforeseen. The information contained in this report is confidential and may be subject to legal privilege. This report is not intended to not should it be taken to create any legal relations or contractual relations.

Europe, New Zealand and Australia - Weather

EUROPE: A wetter trend will return over northern and central this coming week. Concern over crop quality declines will return to areas of the U.K. as well as eastern France through Germany and southern Scandinavia. Rounds of scattered heavy rain will occur from northern Italy, Switzerland and southern Germany through southeastern Poland today through the weekend.

AUSTRALIA: Rounds of frequent light rain will continue over southern portions of the nation the next ten days to two weeks maintaining moist conditions over Western Australia, Victoria into southern New South Wales as well as coastal South Australia. In the meantime, restricted precipitation will occur over interior South Australia, northwestern New South Wales and into southern Queensland this week and greater rainfall will be needed especially in Queensland where long-term dryness remains most prominent.

DISCLAIMER: This report has been prepared by GroCapital Financial Services Pty Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of AFGRI Operations Limited is provided to you for information purposes only. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI hereby certify that the views expressed in this report were obtained from sources which GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI consider to be reliable. GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI do not make any representations or give any guarantees or warranties, expressed or implied, as to the correctness, accuracy or completeness of the report. Neither GROCAPITAL AND AFGRI, nor any affiliate, nor any of their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, shall assume any liability for any losses arising from errors or omissions in the opinions, forecasts or information, irrespective of whether there has been any negligence by GroCapital and AFGRI, their affiliate, or their respective officers, directors, partners or employees, regardless of whether such damages were foreseen or unforeseen. The information contained in this report is confidential and may be subject to legal privilege. This report is not intended to not should it be taken to create any legal relations or contractual relations.