BDLive - The JSE was little changed on Wednesday, with inflation and prospects for tighter monetary policy the mair themes in the local markets ahead of the Reserve Bank's monetary policy committee briefing on Thursday.

The local bourse hovered around a record high, reaching an intraday best of 71,447 points before paring its gains to just 3.93 points and closing at 70,942.34. The top 40, too, was little changed at 64,337.17. The dollar jumped on Wednesday, as strong US retail sales data fuelled bets on earlier US Federal Reserve rate hikes, while shares in Europe made slim gains after Asian markets had wobbled on worries about Covid-19.

The dollar scaled a four-and-a-half-year high against the yen in the wake of US data on Tuesday showing stronger-than expected retail sales in October.

BDLive - Bengaluru — Gold prices edged up on Wednesday but hovered close to recent lows, with a strong dollar taking some of the precious metal's shine away.

Spot gold rose 0.2% to $1,854.07/oz by 4.43am GMT, but the metal was still only about 0.3% off its lowest level since last Friday hit in the previous session. US gold futures gained 0.1% to $1,856.00.

The macro backdrop is still supportive for gold with inflation still elevated, but the continued strength in the dollar is limiting gold's upside," said larshal Barot, a senior research consultant for South Asia at Metals Focus.

The dollar was close to a 16-month high, supported by data showing US retail sales jumped last month. A stronger dollar raises gold's cost to buyers holding other currencies

FarmProgress - Corn prices moved moderately higher after a round of technical buying today that was largely spurred by spillover strength from soybeans and wheat. Export optimism was also a factor, with analysts expecting to see a healthy round of data from USDA tomorrow morning. December futures added 4.25 cents to $5.7525, with March futures up 3.75 cents to $5.8125.

Corn basis bids trended 2 to 3 cents higher at two interior river terminals and faded 2 cents lower at an Iowa ethanol plant while holding steady elsewhere across the central U.S. on Wednesday.

Ethanol production moved modestly higher, with a daily average of 1.060 million barrels for the week ending November 12, per the latest data from the U.S. Energy Information Administration, out Wednesday morning. That's up from a daily average of 1.039 million barrels a week ago. The daily average has now stayed above the 1-million-barrel benchmark for six consecutive weeks.

Ahead of the next weekly export report from USDA, out early Thursday morning, analysts expect to see corn sales ranging between 31.5 million and 55.9 million bushels for the week ending November 11.

Yesterday, IHS Markit Agribusiness substantially lowered its 2022 corn planting estimates, from a prior projection of 92.374 million aces down to 90.784 million acres, as high input and fertilizer prices may pressure some farmers to swap out more of their corn acres for soybeans next year.

FarmProgress - Wheat prices moved 1.25% to 1.75% higher on Wednesday after a series of overseas sales pushed the focus back upon global demand optimism, which in turn spurred a round of technical buying today. Spillower strength from other grains lent additional support. December Chicago SRW futures gained 14 cents to $8.2425, December Kansas City HRW futures also gained 14 cents to $8.3475, and December MGEX spring wheat futures rose 12.75 cents to $10.2775.

Ahead of Thursday morning's export report from USDA, analysts expect the agency to show wheat sales ranging between 9.2 million and 19.3 million bushels for the week ending November 11.

Yesterday, IHS Markit Agribusiness increased its estimates for 2022 all-wheat plantings from 48.803 million acres last month to a new projection of 49.373 million acres. The group expects an uptick in acres for winter wheat, spring wheat and durum next year.

Ukrainian analyst APK-Inform is more bullish on its 2021/22 wheat export forecasts, with a new estimate of 826.7 million bushels. That's a 7.1% increase above the group's estimates from a month ago. Ukraine is among the world's top wheat exporters.

FarmProgress - Soybean prices jumped 2% higher as the focus returned to robust export demand after a series of flash sales reported to USDA so far this week, and with analysts expecting to see another solid dose of weekly export sales data out tomorrow morning. January futures climbed 25.75 cents to $12.77, with March futures rising 24.75 cents to $12.88.

Soybean basis bids were steady to firm after rising 2 to 10 cents higher across a handful of Midwestern locations on Wednesday.

For the third consecutive session, private exporters reported two large grain sales to USDA on Wednesday. The first was for 4.9 million bushels of soybeans for delivery to China during the 2021/22 marketing year, which began September 1. Exporters also reported a soyoil sale to India totaling 30,000 metric tons. That sale is also for delivery during the 2021/22 marketing year, which began October 1.

Ahead of tomorrow morning's weekly export report from USDA, analysts expect the agency to show soybean sales ranging between 36.7 million and 59.9 million bushels for the week ending November 11. Analysts also think USDA will show soymeal sales ranging between 100,000 and 310,000 metric tons last week, plus 20,000 MT to 50,000 MT of soyoil sales.
